Addresses posted on buildings shall be in colors contrasting with the background in such a manner and location as to be plainly visible from the street. Address numbers shall be minimum of three inches (3") in height. Building letters shall be minimum of ten inches (10") in height.

In instances where the main building's posted address is not clearly visible from the adjacent road, numerical designation shall be displayed near the main entrance to the property upon which the building is situated. The address marker shall be posted at a height between three feet (3') and five feet (5') within three feet (3') of where the county or private road intersects your driveway access, however not in the county road right-of-way. *[This means you need to post your address numbers on your building and where your driveway meets the road.
